

Olivia Lovsin

Olivia is a performer, educator, and choreographer based in New York City. She discovered her love for dance as a student of Joanne Zavisa at Joanne's Dance Extension in Michigan where she studied a variety of styles for over 15 years. Olivia went on to earn her BFA in Dance from the University at Buffalo Honors College under the mentorship of Tom Ralabate. While attending UB she performed as a company member of Zodiaque Dance Company. Olivia's choreography was chosen for various university showcases and she was the director of Dancer's Workshop her senior year.

To continue her training she has studied with organizations such as: Dance Masters of America's Student Honors Intensive Program and Teachers Training School; Complexions Contemporary Ballet; Joffrey Ballet School; Cecchetti Council of America; Broadway Dance Center; Steps on Broadway; and the Chicago based Nan Giordano Certification Program.

Olivia has performed in New York City as a company member of The Mo.vement, a contemporary dance company under the direction of Moriah Markowitz. In addition to performing, she travels to teach workshop classes and adjudicate for regional and national conventions. Olivia is passionate about teaching and enjoys setting choreography for dance studios where her students have won various awards and titles.

When she's not dancing, you can find Olivia teaching Pure Barre. She is a fully certified instructor and teaches all 5 class formats around New York City's 16 locations.
