

Dre Torres

Dre Torres is an international tap dance artist, educator, and choreographer based in NYC, Torres' career highlights include roles as assistant tap choreographer for Broadway's Funny Girl and current National Tour, associate choreographer for Henry & Me, and choreographer for DanceLabNY's Tap Project. Torres was recently honored as a Dance Teacher Magazine Awardee which highlighted her joyful teaching philosophy and popular classes at Broadway Dance Center. With a rich performance history and faculty credits at renowned institutions local and Abroad (including a bachelor of science in American Dance Pedagogy from OCU), Torres' passion for tap dance shines through her dedication to preserving tap dance and its history, mentoring the next generation of artists, and performing her latest creative and choreographic theatrical works. Follow her journey on IG: @DreTorres14